

Youth Activation Council

Do you want to be an agent of change?

Do you believe in acceptance, inclusion and respect for all?

Join the Special Olympics Youth Activation Council and let your voice be heard!

Beyond youth leadership at the school level, there are opportunities to serve on the Special Olympics Wyoming Youth Activation Council made up of youth both with and without disabilities from throughout the state.

The Youth Activation Council works together throughout the year to educate, motivate and activate other youth to become agents of change in their communities for the respect, inclusion and acceptance of all people regardless of abilities.

The goal of the YAC is to reach out to other youth to help carry out social justice for all people as well as providing input into the progression of Project UNIFY in Wyoming.

Expected Outcomes:

- Youth leadership that collaborates with the State Office to carry out initiatives, events and activities.
- An increase of partnership between youth and adults, to reach out to more people to educate, motivate, and activate them to become involved in Special Olympics and its initiatives.
- Involving youth, the leaders of tomorrow, to ensure the continuing success of Special Olympics.

Reasons to join the YAC:

- Earn community service hours for high school projects, college applications, scholarship applications and job applications.
- Youth leadership opportunities to promote acceptance and continuous improvements in schools and communities.
- Create and sustain relationships with youth throughout the state

Interested in becoming a YAC member?

Special Olympics Wyoming contact:

Allison Harker

(307) 235-3062

program@specialolympicswy.org

